Val Goodell called:

He's coming over to the meeting right now.

He feels that things are changing considerably and offers the following comments:

1. There's a movement afoot to cancel the estimate.
2. As more returns come in and as previous returns are recounted, things looks considerably different:
Item: I_n central Java, it turns out (still unofficially) that the Masjumi had 1,700,000 instead of 400,000 as previously (unofficially) released.
3. State seems to increasingly believe that the things should be bounced.

I didn't know whether this was the meeting that you wanted him to attend or not.

But in view of his remarks and information (in addition to what came over the telephone to me) I ~~think~~ thought he should show up.
